Expresso 3.0™

License Agreement

This license applies only to the 3.0 version of Expresso.

Unregistered Version

The unregistered version of Expresso 3.0 is distributed free of charge subject to the following terms and conditions. By installing, using, or distributing this software, you agree to accept the terms of this license. Do not use or distribute Expresso if you do not agree to all the terms and conditions of this license.

You are granted the right to install the unregistered version of the software, use it on any number of computers, and distribute it to other parties as long as you do not alter the program or its installation package in any way. You must include this license agreement and all copyright notices without alteration. You must not permit anyone else to modify the software or installation package in any way.

You may not rent or lease this software, nor reverse engineer it, nor create other software programs that are in some way derived from Expresso. You may not use Expresso as part of a service from which you derive revenue. You may not use this software beyond the trial period that is built in to the code. Any attempt to defeat the expiration mechanism will invalidate your license to use Expresso. The author entirely and exclusively reserves all rights not granted in this agreement.

Registered Version

Some or all of the functionality of the unregistered version of Expresso will be disabled at the expiration of a trial period. You may request a registration code at any time by following the instructions in the Help menu. The registered version is licensed on a per-user basis. After obtaining a registration code, you are considered a "Registered User". Registered users may install and use Expresso on any number of computers, but may not transfer their rights to others. Once the registered version of Expresso is installed, only registered users are authorized to use it. User names and registration codes may not be given to others.

Disclaimers

This software is provided "as is" and may have bugs with unpredictable consequences. It is not guaranteed to perform any function and the user must bear the risk of any failures of the software. The software is distributed with no warranties of any kind. The author will not be liable for any damages whatsoever that result from the use of Expresso. It is the user's responsibility to ensure that critical systems and data are protected against unforeseen errors.

Expresso™